First Time Tailgate Party Draws 1,000

Employees and their families who attended BART's first-ever Oakland A's Tailgate Party on September 10 will remember fond friends, sumptuous food and "who won the game anyway?"

Getting there was easy. The party was held in the parking lot at the BART Coliseum Station. So, all you had to do was show up, chow down on gourmet BBQ ribs, sausage, hot dogs and all the fixings, and then stroll into the Coliseum for the game.

Coordinator Hershell Levi said she had no problem selling 1,000 tickets to the event, and probably a few more than that showed up. Employees helped to serve food and clean up, all of which helped the event go smoothly.

"A good time was had by all," said Hershell. b

New Hire Orientation

Newly hired employees who have not completed an orientation may attend sessions scheduled for November 15-16 or December 5-6. The sessions will be held at the Oakland Training Center, 24 Fourth Street, Oakland from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Topics covered during the two-day orientation include BART history and values; general rules; discrimination policy; system procedures, including emergency preparedness, earthquake safety, back safety, computers, workplace violence and BART's needlestick program; substance abuse and employee counseling; worker's compensation; benefits and incentive awards; customer service; the Extensions Program; a tour of Central Operations and the Lake Merritt Station, and a Union presentation.

Employees may register by E-Mail or by contacting Yolanda Vega, Training and Development, via fax (464-6386) with the following information: employee name, department and cost center, job classification or title; supervisor's name, location, and telephone number. All employees should bring their OR&P manual on the first day of class.

For more information, please call 464-6293. b

"Quilt of Tears" Wins APTA Grand Prize

BART's "Choosing Peace" public awareness campaign, which featured the Quilt of Tears in advertising, film and BART station displays, has received the Grand Prize in the American Public Transit Association's annual "Ad Wheel" competition.

Last winter when BART joined with the Gateway Project and Chevron to bring the Quilt of Tears to the Bay Area, sponsors believed its poignant message of non-violence as seen through artists' eyes would ring true to its audience. Created by survivors of victims of crime, the brightly colored quilt serves as a reminder that peace should reign over violence. The project has been displayed around the nation at schools, churches and at violence prevention conferences.

The anti-violence campaign earlier this year received First Place in Ad Wheel's Public Advocacy and Awareness category, and a Merit Award for public advocacy from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

"This is the first time we've won the Grand Prize," says Jim McGrath of BART Marketing. The competition judges marketing campaigns among transit agencies in the United States and Canada. The award was presented to BART General Manager Richard A. White during APTA's national convention held in early October in San Antonio.

Three panels of Quilt were displayed from last December through June at the Richmond, Powell Street, Coliseum, Concord and Del Norte stations. Beyond the public display, the project involved a film, television public service announcements, billboard advertising, car cards and supporting an 800 number for information on The Gateway Project. Gateway is a program of Bay Area community resources and the YMCA of the Easy Bay, and operates in Richmond.

Corporate support came from Chevron, along with American Zoetrope Films, Patrick Media Group and Landmark Theaters. Zoetrope produced a film on the Quilt of Tears for public viewing at 38 Landmark Theaters in the Bay Area. Zoetrope was also able to encourage equipment and service donations from various film production vendors. From the film, Zoetrope produced a 30-second public service announcement, which aired on all Bay Area television stations. Quilt segments were reproduced in BART car card displays and billboard advertising.

BART marketing staff received many calls from the public inquiring about the Quilt, says Jim. "Three grandmothers who lost grandchildren to violent crime wanted to make their own panels for the quilt," he recalls. "They said, 'I want my baby up there.'" Jim referred callers like these to the Gateway Project.

The Quilt of Tears now resides at the Richmond Arts Center, where it can be viewed by the public. b

On December 16 it will be "all aboard" at BART's new North Concord/Martinez station. The finishing touches are going on at the first station to open as part of BART's Extensions Program. While December 16 will be the first day for revenue service, BART employees will preview the station at a special Employee Day event on Saturday, December 9. Mark your calendars and plan to be there!

New Schedule Paves Way For Extensions

A new systemwide train schedule went into effect Monday, October 16, which increased the number of peak period trains to 50.

This higher capacity will help BART staff prepare for extending service this Winter to the North Concord/Martinez station, which will open for revenue service December 16. The Dublin/Pleasanton and Colma stations will follow with a date to be announced.

To successfully merge the new stations into BART's core system, we have put this new schedule in place. This allows staff to correct any problems before new service begins. The end result will be more trains, more seats for passengers, and operating a little closer together.

These will be the first extensions to BART since the 71.5-mile rail transit system opened on September 11, 1972, and the first stations to go on line since the Embarcadero Station in San Francisco opened May 27, 1976.

Besides increasing Tube service frequency and adding new peak period trains, the new schedule slightly revises direct Concord-to-South Hayward service, and includes timed transfers for Saturday trains. b

After 10 Years of Speechmaking

"People-Movers" Is Still The One

Need to make a speech? Never done it? Don't even want to think about it? Fear not!! The People-Movers Toastmasters Club is here to help.

Toastmasters International is an organization designed to teach effective speechmaking skills in a friendly, constructive environment. For 10 years, People-Movers has held court each Wednesday in the Metro Building for employees from BART, ABAG and MTC to test their speaking skills.

On October 11, about 40 members and guests attended an Open House to celebrate People-Movers' 10th anniversary of helping people get over stage fright. Friendship, storytelling and camaraderie were the order of the day.

"It's a wonderful environment to perfect your speaking skills," says Pat Hoar, BART librarian and club secretary. "You can use the group to test a presentation you have to give for work, or to just practice speaking."

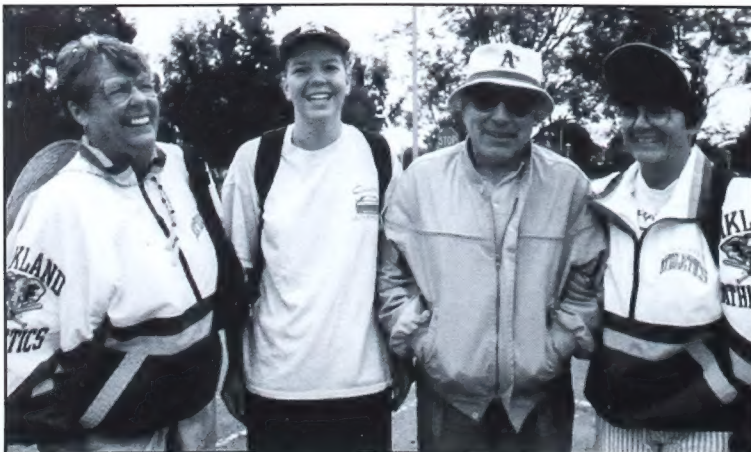

Beginning Toastmasters are provided with a 10-speech lesson manual that guides them through the process of creating and presenting a speech. "It covers the use of gestures, vocal variety and how to organize a speech," says Pat. Once completing the basics, members receive their "Competent Toastmaster" certification. They may then pick the topic of their choice and practice speaking before the club. "We provide a supportive system of mentoring and mutual encouragement to help everyone become a polished speaker," Pat adds.

New members are always welcome. People-Movers Toastmasters Club #1034 meets at Noon on Wednesdays in Room 254, Metro Building. For more information, contact Pat at 464-6848 or Club President

Ron Edmondson, in BART's Management Analysis Department, 464-6147. b

BART Employees and Their Families Enjoyed A Fun Day At The Coliseum

Will the Trophy Go To Richmond or Hayward?

Bowling teams from the Richmond and Hayward yards met on October 28 in the fifth game of the 1995 BART Bowling League series. When BARTalk went to press, it was two each for Richmond and Hayward and the question among bowling fans is, "Who will take home the trophy?"

The "trophy" is actually a bowling pin marked with the winner's name. "We'd like to create a real trophy," says Andy Williams, foreperson at the Richmond Yard and one of the league's organizers. "It would be nice to have an engraved trophy that can be displayed." The pin current resides at the Hayward Yard, following that team's victory in September.

The season began in June when Richmond Yard challenged Hayward Yard at the Manor Bowl in San Leandro. The Richmond Team — comprised of Andy Williams, Beverly Carson, Don Wells, Ed Jacobs, James Bonds, William Person and Hassan Shaheed — merged victorious with a top-five score of 2,442 against 2,425 from the Hayward team — Don Arnold, Walt Jusino, Chris Hudson, David Freeman, David Hood, David Adams, Donna "Lulu" Wilkerson and Charles Douglas.

In a rematch July 15, Richmond showed its stuff again as the team took honors with a score of 2,391 vs. 2,255 for Hayward. But "home turf" did the trick on August 26 as Hayward took the third tourney at Hayward's Holiday Bowl. Their crew of Adams, Hood, Edwards, Freeman and Douglas scored 3,550 against 3,298 for Carson, Bonds, Person, Williams and Wells of the Richmond Team.

Lightening struck again on September 30 when the Hayward Yard went "two for two" with a team score of 2,004 over Richmond's 1,860. High fives went around to Hayward's Arnold, Wilkerson, Freeman and Ken Gonzales, cheered on by teammates Adam, Hudson, Jusino, Hood, and Edwards. It left the Richmond team of Carson, Jacobs, Bonds, Williams, Shaheed, Wells, and newcomer Billy Belford scratching their heads.

"We do this for fun, and we welcome any other yards that wish to put a team together to join in," says Andy. Anyone interested in forming a team can call him at ext. 5100.

Who will win the trophy? Polish up your bowling ball, cheer your favorite team and read BARTalk for the results. b

In Touch with BART

Want to hear up-to-date information from the General Manager's office? What about unions and associations? Or Human Resources and Development? Or the progress of BART's extensions?

All you have to do is call 464-6300 and the information will be right at the tip of your finger. You've reached the BART Employee Information Hotline.

The new Hotline is an outgrowth of the Joint Labor-Management formation group, which has been meeting regularly since January and is close to awarding a contract to a facilitator who will assist in creating a labor-management structure to improve the work environment at BART.

The Hotline messages will be changed every week. Give the Hotline a call. Reach out and get in touch with what's going on at BART. b

RETIREMENTS

A Fond Farewell to Vince and Bob. You Will Be Missed!

Friday, October 6 was the last day on the job for Vince Mahon, Department Manager, Power and Way Maintenance — and nearly 180 of his friends stopped by to wish him well at his retirement dinner at the Concord Hilton Hotel.

Vince came to BART in 1968 after 17 years with Southern Pacific Lines. He held a number of positions with BART, and he "saw it all." From the Transbay Tube to the Extensions Program to a few well-publicized emergencies — the Tunnel fire of 1979; the Loma Prieta Earthquake of 1989 and the Oakland Hills Fire of 1991.

Say his friends in Power and Way: "We will miss his presence and incredible store of knowledge."

▲ Karen McDaniel (center) congratulates Vince Mahon, and his wife Evelyn, on the occasion of Vince's retirement. About 180 people attended Vince's retirement dinner on October 6 at the Concord Hilton.

Real Estate Engineer Bob Zickwolf is returning to his roots in Arkansas after five years with BART and a 35-year career in engineering, surveying and real estate.

Bob came to BART on November 27, 1990 and has worked on many projects, including the Extensions and the CalTrans Seismic Retrofit programs. As real estate engineer, Bob has been responsible for matters involving construction, legal descriptions, right-of-way issues, permits and land encroachments. He was involved with surveying and mapping required for land purchases for BART's Extensions Program.

Following the Loma Prieta Earthquake in 1989, CalTrans engaged in several retrofit projects involving local freeways. There were 20-plus projects involving high-way retrofit near or next to BART tracks. In many cases, BART was the beneficiary of upgrade work completed by CalTrans at no cost to BART, Bob noted.

Bob will leave in early November, once Les Frelich is initiated into the job. When Bob came on, he trained under his predecessor Paul Lamoreaux. "That worked out perfectly," said Bob. "This is the kind of job where it truly makes sense for the one going out to train the one coming in." b

In Memory

BART employees mourn the recent loss of Joan Sullivan, who was the Executive Assistant to Jim Gallagher, Assistant General Manager, Operations. She died September 16. A prayer/memorial service was held September 20 at the St. Bonaventure Church in Clayton. Joan came to BART in November 1992 and spent her entire BART career working for Jim, who said, "Joan was a wonderful person, and she will be missed by all who knew her."

Employee Services Administrator Barbara A. George extends "my deepest appreciation to all of you who have offered expressions of comfort and sympathy for the recent loss of my son. I am deeply grateful for your support and understanding. It has been very comforting. Thank you." b

ScuttleBART

Operations Supervisor (M Line) Fred Braese, and his wife, Jerris, are famous for their annual entry in the Danville Fourth of July Parade — miniature horses pulling carts or led by clusters of excited children. When not marching, the horses take up residence at The Country Place, the Braese's feed and pet store in Blackhawk.

The horses have a loving upbringing by Jerris and Fred. They grow to about 150 pounds and can carry riders up to 60 pounds. According to local press accounts, the Braeses have 16 horses, which are for sale.

One special twist to the parade entry: the children are disabled or survivors of life-threatening illness. Jerris also allows a group of autistic children to pet the horses on a regular basis. And when the monks from a nearby Buddhist monastery walk by with their young charges, Jerris tries to get the horses out where the children can see them without breaking the strict rule of looking ahead.

The Braeses also collect donations of clothing for the homeless, and are in particular need for men's clothing (donors seem to bring by more women's and kid's things). Stop by the store at 1365 Lawrence Road, off Camino Tassajara, near Blackhawk (east of San Ramon, for you non-locals) or call (510) 736-7337.

Laura King has been promoted to Senior Real Estate Officer (Staff V), announces Richard F. Jones, Real Estate Department Manager. "Many of you know that Laura is a 'can-do' person who is not afraid to get the job done," says Rick. "In wishing her well, we are sure her husband, Steve, and two daughters, Allie and Whitney, are justifiably proud of her."

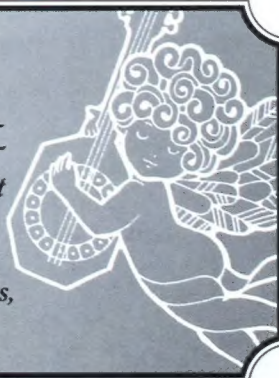

Barbara Oden is the new Manager of Operating Budgets, announces Joseph D. Evinger, Operating Budgets & Analysis Department Manager. Barbara came to BART in 1972 as a clerk in Maintenance and worked her way up to Budget Coordinator in Systems and Data Processing. She joined the Operating Budgets Division in 1977, and became Staff Assistant II, Applications Monitor to the Senior Financial Analyst. "I cannot imagine anybody being more qualified for this position," says Joe. "Best luck to her in the future." b

Do Your Holiday Shopping at

BART'S EMPLOYEE ART & CRAFT FAIRE

It's time to prepare your holiday shopping list and mark your calendar for BART's Employee Holiday Art & Craft Faire on Thursday, December 7. The annual event will take place from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Plaza and first floor of LMA.

The Faire features the work of BART employees, who have created a wide assortment of homemade crafts, ornaments, and food items. Celebrate the holidays at BART's annual Art & Crafts Faire. See you there!

Thanks to Volunteers for "Connecting Cities" '95

BART recently completed its annual charity campaign, "BART-Connecting Cities and People." The drive gave BART employees a chance to donate to local charities.

While the final results are not yet tallied, campaign coordinator Hershell Levi thanks all donor representatives to helped encourage their co-workers to support Bay Area charities.

Learn About Engineering at 'Brown Bag' Series

BART employees interested in learning more about engineering are invited to attend the Maintenance and Engineering Department's "Brown Bag" lecture series.

The series began in August to offer information to other BART employees about the work done in the department. Talks feature BART engineering staff discussing everything from the Loma Prieta Earthquake to Corrosion and the Transbay Tube. All presentations are at Noon every other Thursday at varying locations. Topics scheduled during November and December are:

■ November 9
Subject and Speaker TBA.

■ November 30
Steve Van Den Broeke, AFC Maintenance
"Magnetic Properties of BART Tickets"
Noon; Room 254, Metro Center.

■ December 14
John Prowznik, Computer Systems Engineering
"Computer Systems Engineering - SCADA Extensions"
Noon, Location TBA.

Chief Engineer James M. Dunn extends his thanks to all the speakers who have participated in the lecture series, including Jack Yee, Civil Engineering; Bill Black and Ray Mok, Computer Systems Engineering; Mike Brown, Track & Structures Maintenance; Karl Witbeck, Communications Systems Engineering; Peter Todd, Electrical & Mechanical Engineering; and John Evans, Research and Development.

For more information on the series or to suggest topics, please contact Mae Meidav at ext. 6582.
